I've worked with this marketing agency for a number of years now collaborating on client marketing campaigns and their marketing team is phenomenal. Ryan really knows his stuff and his team is very experienced in online marketing strategies and web design.

If your looking for a strong marketing company in Calgary, I'd recommend you get in touch with Marvel!

Ryan and his team have been exceptional to work with. Their understanding of Google Ads and SEO helped to create a successful online marketing strategy for our business that has resulted in increased online sales. They are transparent, easy to work with, and thorough in their communication and deliverables. We would recommend reaching out to Marvel if growing your online presence is a goal.

I was part of the marketing training that Ryan puts on through Marvel Marketing and it was a great experience. This marketing training has helped me with marketing strategies for the auto industry and has expanded my knowledge in marketing and communications.

A friend recommended Marvel Marketing to us when we were having a really bad experience with another Marketing company. We spoke with Ryan and he understood exactly what we were looking for. He recommended options based on our business model and also created a new eCommerce website, which was one of the best decisions we have ever made in our business.

Despite the challenges that we faced during the transition, Ryan handled everything professionally and did his best to work with us. He is transparent with his services and very responsive. His communication and interaction with us has been absolutely amazing.

We continue working with Marvel Marketing and would highly recommend anyone out there looking for eCommerce services.

My company hired Marvel Marketing to help with our marketing strategy which included web design, SEO, Google Ads, and some social media marketing. The marketing team helped with the entire process making it really easy on us and we made great progress really early on. I look forward to continue working with Marvel and recommend their marketing services to anyone looking for their business.

Marvel Marketing did a fantastic job at building our company website. Their attention to detail was superb as we had a ton of changes along the way. They were extremely accommodating to our requests and the end product was more than we could have asked for. Thank you Ryan and we look forward to working with you again in the future.

I hired Marvel Marketing to help our real estate brokerage Oceanside Real Estate with website development and search engine optimization. The web design process went really well and they completed what the previous web developer was not able to finish. Marvel Marketing is now managing our social media along with our monthly blogging creating content to build our brand. We are a few months in and their marketing team is working diligently, and consistently meeting my expectations. If you're looking for marketing services I would recommend Marvel Marketing.
